Jaycees Survey Cloverhill District

The Appomattox County Jaycees are planning to distribute their Community Survey forms in the Cloverhill District of Appomattox County on Monday, March 20, 1972. These forms will be distributed to as many homes as possible on Monday night. The Jaycees plan to pick up the forms on Wednesday night March 22, (weather permitting). If you live in the Cloverhill District and a Jaycee does not leave a survey form at your home and you would like to have one, contact J. D. Simpson at 352-8950 or F. E. Williams at 352-7515. If you receive a Survey Form and a Jaycee fails to pick it up, please leave it in one of the collection boxes located at King's Market, Farmers National Bank or Fidelity National Bank (Hillcrest Branch).

Because of the circumstances surrounding the distribution of a survey, there may be some District over-lapping. If this occurs, it will create no problems as all survey forms will be tabulated together.

Watch future editions of the Times-Virginian for more news on the Community Survey.

Red Cross Drive Seeks $2,000.00

The annual March Red Cross Fund Drive for the Appomattox County Chapter is now underway according to chapter chairman William A. Hunter. FARM BUREAU BOARD MEETING

The Appomattox County Farm Bureau will hold a board meeting on Monday, March 20, at 7:30 p.m. at the Court House. Earl Pickett is Farm Bureau president.

Supervisors Hear Road Requests

Attorney Robert Carter (standing) appeared before the county board of supervisors Friday, asking "clarification" of the recent reassessment of property in the county and its possible effect on the rate of taxation. He presented 1,000 petitions and was accompanied to the meeting by a delegation of approximately 30 people.

Delegation Asks About Taxes

Appomattox County supervisors and officials of the Va. Department of Highways, Appomattox Residency, heard twenty-two requests for 3.55 miles of new additions and 19.80 miles for improvements during a public hearing Friday morning, the regular meeting day for supervisors and the date of the annual road request meeting.

Three requests for new additions were made from residents of Cloverhill district for a total length of 1.45 miles. Stonewall district also had three requests for additions for a total of 1.25 miles and Southside district, two requests for a total of .85 miles.

Six requests for road improvements for a total length of eight miles came from Cloverhill district; four requests from Stonewall for a total of 6.30 miles and four requests from Southside district for a total of 5.50 miles.

In other action Friday supervisors head from about 30 taxpayers in person and 1,000 petition with regard to the recent reassessment of property.

One individual, speaking directly to the board, is concerned about an increase of 65% in his assessment and feels that his is unequal taxation in relation to property adjacent or close to his own in Pamplin.

Walter Henry, farmer of Stonewall district, says he is concerned with "land-use", and that farmers' taxes are out of proportion sometimes to taxassessments for land which is going to be used for development, other than farming.

Supervisors also approved an ordinance which dissolves the former Finance Board of the county and transfers those duties to the board of supervisors.

Supervisors devoted a good deal of time to the entire question of taxation. The rate for taxation is set each April and the board talked about possibilities of tax revenue from a bumper strip on each automobile, a tax on public utilities or extra sales tax. Board members stated that their effort in this line are directed to "spreading taxes" among all the people - those who own property and those who do not so that the burden of county government and schooling can be shared by all who benefit.

Earlier in the meeting attorney Robert Carter said he spoke for the delegation present in the Court House "asking for clarification" of the recent reassessment. He asked that the tax be lowered from the present $3.00 per hundred evaluation.

Cecil Ligon, merchant of Pamplin, said that his mission was to seek equalization and
